About Us

IMG is your "one-stop-platform" for various technical marine services which are mainly inquired by ship owners/managers' classification societies, RO's and flag states; IMG was established as a privately held company headquartered in Ontario, Canada.

Why IMG?

IMG was established and managed by a former flag state inspector, naval architect and ship management consultant. We provide our services with a different approach. We have a unique team composed of technical professionals with various educational and experience backgrounds. In our organization we have former class surveyors, highly qualified and trained engineers and creatively skilled technicians, which makes us stand out from other competitors. Upon receiving your inquiry, our technical board assesses it, checks all options, solutions, and cost effective ideas that are in compliance with the IMO codes and regulations. Never forget with our extensive ship management background you can be assured that we will provide the quality service you expect.

We are different indeed!
